Dozens of people were stranded when the storm trapped those driving on the snowy roads. Boston's Seaport District was closed to traffic at midnight on Wednesday as it was pounded by snow, ice and wind gusts of more than 40 mph. Stage Door was initially only selling a few hundred shotguns a month, and he said when his parents left to open his own restaurant, the grocery store trade was hurting. When grocery stores started opening in the neighborhoods, Stage Door couldn't compete with their low prices. He closed the store and focused on the market. "I just started going, trying to get rid of what we had and try to find out what's going on." The only stock the supermarket carried were Johnson & Johnson products like Band-Aids. Stage Door said some of the customers would come in to get a tube of bandage to wrap around a cut. "Band-Aids, Band-Aids Band-Aids. You get the picture," he said. By the time Stage Door opened the new store in 2018, he had a shift waiting for him. "I'm selling all these band-Aids on the first day." Stage Door said he earned enough money in a few hours to pay off the debt he had taken on in his short grocery store. Four years later, now he's dealing with the customers who are now asking for him when they go into the store. "They'll call me by name, their name, like, 'Hey, how are you? Good morning.'" Local Dave: No action on Amazon HQ2 We have a negative reaction about the implications of Bezos' decision to move his HQ to the Northside. We are also worried about the prospects of having Amazon in Columbus. The issue seems to be framed with closed-door lobbyist meetings with city and state leaders. First, we live in Ohio, and are citizens of a state that values community cooperation, cooperation of government, governance, leadership, and regional cooperation. We are not in favor of Albany's ability to make decisions, directly or indirectly, on our behalf. Second, we are not persuaded that big businesses should be given a free ride in their demands of governments for the privilege of business tax incentives. Third, as a community we would be greatly disadvantaged as Amazon builds their east-of-highway 250 campus in Independence, and becomes the neighbor of all of the cultural and educational institutions of the Northside. What will happen to the Athens-East End neighborhoods, Athens Institute, Harrison Center, East Coast Greenway, etc., if the Northside becomes the 24/7 Amazon campus? Not good. Fourth, we do not understand how the Mayor and City Council can order up a special study of Amazon's impact, without first acknowledging that Amazon has already taken us into their hands, and that we must take a long, hard look at our community's vulnerability to large business that brings in revenue through big, expensive, sophisticated, highly-paid, and permanent staff. This would be a study of the concentration of high-paying and highly-permanent jobs in our community, that is coming to a community that did not plan for it. This is not the way to build community resiliency. Last, we don't see any evidence of Amazon helping to build community resiliency. They are not building the local economy here, and they are not creating jobs here. We have heard this complaint before, and it is always a losing game of self-deception, and it does not help us in one way or another. Good riddance, City Council. Your duty is to take a hard look at the Greater Columbus community, and the issue should never have been a private one to begin with.
