The BCL11B gene is frequently implicated in acute lymphoblastic leukemia and lymphomas. However, its role in hepatocellular carcinoma (HCC) remains controversial. Here, we investigated the role and mechanism of BCL11B in HCC. Expression of BCL11B was validated by quantitative real-time reverse transcription polymerase chain reaction and western blot. Effects of BCL11B on biological behavior were analyzed in vitro and in vivo. The biological mechanism of BCL11B-mediated regulation was further examined in vitro and in vivo. The function of BCL11B in the biological behavior of HCC was attributed to the regulation of tumor suppressor genes. BCL11B was upregulated in HCC cell lines and was associated with the lymph node metastasis and poor prognosis of HCC patients. BCL11B over-expression promoted HCC cell growth and
