A: Your sample data contains some numbers that are much too big, e.g. 714, 2015, Kadukipur, Village, Jammu & Kashmir, India, Phone: 92-245120, Fax: 92-244112 (Such numbers are rubbish for scientific analysis) They are either missing or the number of digits is not present and you should get rid of them. In your sample data you have so many and some of them are so long that you should also get rid of them, as far as I understand. Then the column delimiters should be ' ' (newline). KIEV, Ukraine — Ukrainian troops battled pro-Russian rebels for a second day Tuesday in the eastern Donetsk region after shelling damaged a train station that has been serving as a major hub for refugees from the war. Rebels lost control of an airport near Debaltseve, which the government and Ukrainian troops have been trying to seize for weeks in an effort to take control of the strategic railway junction. The Ukrainian forces seized a building near Debaltseve where at least 25 rebels were reportedly hiding out on Monday. But the rebels tried to overrun the airport on Monday night, capturing a refueling station, the second line of defense that Ukrainian forces have been trying to take for weeks.

The advance was called off after rebel shelling damaged the utilities and residential area that surrounds the checkpoint. The rebels had been using the railway station for their resupply during fighting around the town. Clashes between rebels and Ukrainian forces have been the heaviest in weeks in the town. After seizing the station, the rebels retreated several kilometers into the surrounding fields with the help of heavy artillery that pounded the town. The station has been used to take in the refugees. More than 400 people arrived in the station since early Monday, including roughly 100 who arrived on Monday. Some reports said another 100-200 people arrived on Monday in the station. After the artillery shelled the station, the refugees were sent to a gymnasium in the town of Snezhnevka. The town's gymnasium now has more than 150 people, according to Maxym Yezhel, the regional governor. "Some were wounded and have been sent to hospitals, but the rest will remain here," Yezhel said. The use of multiple shelling attacks from heavy weapons in an urban area is highly unusual. The rebels have been
