Gameplay for combat makes me feel like I'm playing a RTS

--- As it is a Fantasy RPG, I'd like to give it a RTS mechanic feel. As we're a close to everyone can play together type of platform so I decide not not have actual units. Instead, I decided to have a giant set of abilities or abilities that can be optionally attached to your character. In XCom you can move your troops around, you can set up a line of defense, you can plant new troops and bring them to the front, and so on. A few of the things you can do with XCom are not possible with an RPG, like selecting units and moving them. This is a combat based RPG, but the combat mechanics are loosely based on XCom. They're different from XCom, because in XCom there is only one, global turn. Some of these games have multiple turns: turn 1, turn 2, turn 3, etc. Additionally, this game has turn based battles, while XCom has real-time battle.

Elites *Epic Story Battle Backgrounds *Over 70 party, over 70 NPC party roles.

Character Design *Personalized costumes *Fully customizable *Variety of Looks, from low-class to high-class characters

Gameplay *Unique combat system, where Abilities can be chosen *40 Abilities to work with. *Up to 6 choices to be made for each Ability

----

Here is a quick overview of the abilities and their effectiveness. I also added a list of abilities that are extremely powerful, to show players what abilities are good to pick, to avoid playing with weak materials. Abilities: -Ability Crystals: 20 - 40 Greatly increases the Attack Ability Value. -Plus Attack: Increases the Attack Ability Value by 5, for each ally currently in battle. -Enemy Killing: Removes the current enemy from battle. -Equip Equip: Increases the Defense Ability Value by 10, for each item

The three races were all in the same situation and the war was caused by the selfishness and arrogance of the Felci Empire, and the High Druid Council. Before the fall of the city of Palmia, an emissary sent by the Felci Empire called upon the High Druid Council, under the pretext of investigating the welfare of the northern lands of Imdull, where a group of the elite Felci navy safely docked in the city of Palmia; on the young girl's request, the emissary ultimately invaded Imdull and devastated the citizens. At that time, the High Druid Council was caught by surprise. As a result, the Empress was displeased, and the High Druid was forced to open dialogue with the emissary in order to avoid war. After a discussion, the emissary begged

Tue, 24 Dec 2018 06:25:00 +0000 for Students transitioning from Learning English to Learning Swedish

Learning a new language entails multiple challenges. Switching from a previously learned language to a completely new language can be even more complicated, due to the fact that a very large part of how you communicate is conditioned in your second language. Among other things such as vocabulary, grammar and social interaction, Swedish is a language that uses grammatical gender, and that can sometimes make a difference in how you communicate. To assist students that transitioned from Learning English to Learning Swedish, the _Gumroad Notes_ application has been released. Gumroad Notes is a simple way for a student to study, memorize and learn Swedish by spending time perfecting their memory while decoding any Swedish text they need!
