Show on Space TV, Charles Manson and More Aired August 3, 2000. 01:00 - 01:30: Did I Not Make Loving You Last? And Was it Not I Who... Mark Giangreco set the record straight and recounted his initial meeting with Charles Manson. 01:30 - 02:00: Anchor introduces me. But how did she know? A Letter to Marcia Clark (played by Lorrie Morgan) A Letter to Lucille Millner (played by Sandy Martin) A Letter to James Landis (played by Michael O'Connell) A Letter to Keith Morrison (played by Stephen Tobolowsky) The best show you've ever seen. An Astronaut: The Best Show on Space TV, HBO movie featuring Ed Asner A Letter to the Producers: No Emmy nominations. Announcing the third best episode of the year. Norman Borwick, UN Diplomat (played by Mark Derue), 1959 (shot at the same time as THE CIVILIAN) Announcing the Episode of the Year- O'Keefe High School (shot at the same time as HANGING AROUND- LONG ISLAND HIGH) The winner is... The Astronaut Award has gone to an absolutely stunning episode of "The Best Show on Space TV." Best TV Music of the 80's: Run TMC - LL Cool J feat. Raekwon (nominations: Best Soundtrack and Best Male R&B Performance Nominee for LL). Believable, appropriate, and WAY cooler than Grandmaster Flash and the Furious Five's "The Message"- LL's hit is a 20 year-old song that approached On "Space Jam"-albeit very indirectly. Plus LL Cool J was the star of the show and a really good actor. Best rock song from the 80's: Dire Straits - "Money for Nothing." Rock songs by the 80s (like hair) won't go away as they didn't go away in the 60s- which really isn't a problem. Rock was too inconsistent in the 70s with 70's rock songs never catching fire. Alt country/shoegazers dominated the late 80s. For some reason rock artists still fumble when trying to create songs using this style (Madonna didn't do it), although Madonna was the greatest compliment to him. In this way
